

Everglades Of Time

© 2005 Matthieu Brandt

Reflections of the one I used to be
Cast their shadows on my destiny
Shaped by those I left behind
A life much better I would find

I gave my vows, together we would stay
A childhood faith I never would betray
Now that innocence is lost
I'm longing for a time that never was

Part of the heartland
Still afraid that life would pass me by
Now I'm drowning in the everglades of time

Chasing dreams and passion so sublime
Avoid the consequence while killing time
Escape by drunken careless fun
Youth is wasted on the young

The sole survivor of a scattered past
I weave my strings of stories to make sense
Halfway through this tapestry
It still remains a mystery

Part of the heartland
Still afraid that life would pass me by
Now I'm drowning in the everglades of time
